

Alameda County Public Health Department Place Matters: Twitter @ACPlaceMatters /	The Alameda County Place Matters team promotes health equity through a community-centered local policy agenda focused on criminal justice, economics, education, housing, and land use and transportation. See our Place Matters recommendations online.
Black Lives Matter Bay Area Chapter: blacklivesmatter.com / robbie@cjjc.org	Black Lives Matter is an ideological and political intervention in a world where Black lives are systematically and intentionally targeted for demise. It is an affirmation of Black folks' contributions in the face of deadly oppression. Health professionals can be advocates for the health of Black people in your work, addressing racism as it comes up in the health field and supporting the creation and maintenance of culturally relevant health services.
California Department of Public Health, Office of Health Equity	cdph.ca.gov/programs/Pages/OHEPolicyUnit.aspx / solange.gould@cdph.ca.gov The Office of Health Equity listens to the experiences of local health departments and community based organizations to provide leadership in policy, systems, and environmental change in CA government decision-making, practices, and policies.
Causa Justa :: Just Cause: cjjc.org / Robbie@cjjc.org	Causa Justa :: Just Cause builds the power of working class Black and Latino communities in the Bay through organizing, rights based services, policy campaigns, political education, and civic engagement. Health professionals can continue to do research on the negative health impacts of gentrification and popularize the idea that health, like housing, should be a human right.
Critical Resistance (including Oakland Power Projects): criticalresistance.org/ powerprojets@criticalresistance.org	Critical Resistance seeks to build an international movement to end the prison industrial complex (PIC) by challenging the belief that caging and controlling people makes us safe. Oakland Power Projects (OPP): an initiative to engage Oakland residents and health professionals in building community power, wellbeing, and health (including mental health) without relying on policing.
Do No Harm Coalition (UCSF) / http://www.donoharmcoalition.org/donoharmucs.html /	The Do No Harm UCSF Coalition was founded in May 2016 in response to police violence in San Francisco and the 17-day hunger strike by the "Frisco 5" to call for an end to police violence and for systemic changes to policing policies and practices in the Bay.
Diversity Inclusion Community Equity: sph.berkeley.edu/diversity/student-groups/ sphdiversity@berkeley.edu	(DICE). An action-oriented committee composed of students, faculty, alumni, and staff that work to promote Diversity, Inclusion, Community, and Equity in the Berkeley School of Public Health and beyond. We put on multiple Town Halls and trainings each year.
National Nurses United: www.nationalnursesunited.org	Oakland-based National Nurses United—the largest union of direct-care RNs in the U.S.—is working to help build labor and social movements capable of healing social structural inequities in California and across the U.S. Health professionals and activists can participate in our education programs and join us on campaigns like YESon61, Medicare for All, and the Robin Hood Tax.
Occupy Public Health: facebook.com/groups/OccupyPublicHealthBerkeley	Listserve: occupy-public-health-bay-area+subscribe@googlegroups.com We work on projects related at the intersection of public health and social justice in the San Francisco Bay Area and beyond. This group originated in 2010 as a Health and Human Rights Learning Circle, was active during the Occupy movement as Occupy Public Health, and re-formed in fall 2014 in response to the organizing in Ferguson and the #blacklivesmatter movement.
Rad Med: Critical Social Medicine Working Group: rad-med.com / structuralcompetency@gmail.com	Listserve: groups.google.com/forum/#!forum/rad-med-announcements/join Rad Med is an open collective including nurses, physicians, and social workers; graduate and undergraduate students in anthropology, sociology, medicine, nursing, social work, and public health; patient advocates and mental health activists; health policy scholars, protest street medics, hospital chaplains, and more. We seek to imagine and work toward more equal health systems for all. We meet every second Thursday. Next: Nov 10, 6pm, Center for Latino Policy Research (2547 Channing Way).
STRIDE: Students Towards Racial Justice, Inclusion, Diversity and Equity	STRIDE is a space for members to propose, organize, and implement interventions related to racial justice, inclusion, diversity, and equity. We aim to apply the discussions and interventions to various settings, including but not limited to the Joint Medical Program, the School of Public Health, and the larger Bay Area community. Contact: micha@berkeley.edu to join!
TGI Justice Project: www.tgijp.org / info@tgijp.org	TGI Justice Project is a group of transgender, gender variant and intersex people—inside and outside of prisons, jails and detention centers—creating a united family in the struggle for survival and freedom. They work to forge a culture of resistance and resilience to strengthen us for the fight against human rights abuses, imprisonment, police violence, racism, poverty, and societal pressures.
